

Cerise Cramofi Rosa

Looking at the world through rose colored glasses
Chosen for its vibrant pinks
I love a day where I am at peace
Cerise and crimson leaves can please
Every night she has the same dreams
Random splashes of cerise
She finds happiness and what's in between Pink-edged clouds, and a new blade of grass
Enjoy life, before it grow colder
Vivid blushes of cerise

New night begun.
Your lips touch mine
Pearly teeth, her smile glows.
And your hands struggle with my clothes
And win a victory
Still, you are not done
Every night she has the same dreams
Random splashes of cerise

I forgot to mention I love you
One day love will find its way from you're lips soft, tender, sweet just hold on to yourself
Time will tell.
Time will tell
Time will tell.
