Purple Agat

I only wanted to see you
That first glimpse of purple in the gloaming
To know the rose in your heart
And desire it more than life
I only wanted to one time to see you laughing
Thin-skinned a beacon without light
So beautifully cruel
So perfect that it hurts

I will not gaze up on those dark violet eyes

Dews of the dark that drench the violet

No one else could wear it, wings of gold black and blue

Hour of shadows when hope and joy is soaring deep blue skies

I never meant to cause you any sorrow My heart is begging for illusion Rested in my Purple room Smile on nature's wild ways

I will not gaze up on those dark violet eyes Nature and Man together blend their tears Around this gorgeous globe, purple could be found Humbly the world shall know

Purple makes me cry Purple makes me cry