

Note: Long time ago I moved up north on the west coast
First day in my new job people asked me where do I live
When I told them they said " Oh that's where people are dancing naked in the moonlight"
Suddenly I felt at home, many year`s later I remember that feeling and wrote this tune.

Moonstruck

Swaying in the silverlight
We were dancing all through the night
Shades could not block our sight
We were laughing in the light

Naked as if newborn
Our twisted minds were tear and torn
Nothing really matters
All things must pass through the horn

And we all find out love dazzling in to that moonstruck
And we all find out love dazzling in to that moonstruck

Playing hide and seek Guess we were acting like some freaks

Howling without any fright
Dancing wailing all through the night

Exposed to that affliction
Cursed by the force of that addiction

All that really matters gather and formed
Through our connections

And we all find out love dazzling in to that moonstruck
And we all find out love dazzling in to that moonstruck
And we all find out love
