

Note: Time might ruin relations if you don't garden them

There goes my love one

There goes my love one
Descending in the dark night
Leave traces out of misery
Out of misery and faith

There goes my love one
Shadow reflecting in the moonlight
Leave memories like falling stars
Howling through the night

All these pieces of frustration
All these changes in the environment
Tearing down our world to ruins
Slaughtered by the time

There goes my love one
There goes my broken heart
Relived the days of torment
One scourge from the past

There goes my sunshine
Disappearing behind the clouds
Leave this shade out of refraction
Burning in our heart

All these pieces of frustration
All these changes in the environment
Tearing down our world to ruins
Slaughtered by the time
